

Loki

March 27, 2025

With heavy hearts, we say “see you later” to our beloved companion, Loki, who crossed the rainbow bridge on March 27, 2025, at 11:43 AM EST. Loki was more than a pet. He was a beautiful soul with a gentle personality. He filled our lives with laughter and warmth while he played in the water bowl, and meowed at odd hours of the night carrying a stuffed toy. Loki would strut around with a confident walk, mindlessly minding his own business, waiting for his next treat at all times during the day and the night. He slept in the oddest, but coziest locations, which would oftentimes leave us with a chuckle.

Loki is survived by his feline brothers, Junebug, Zio, Rio, Zuri, and L’ombrè, who will miss their cozy nap sessions together. Though our home feels emptier without him, his spirit will forever live amongst us, in our hearts and our memories.

Loki forever be missed, but not forgotten. Rest easy sweet boy, may you find endless love, cozy spots, and gentle head scratches along your next journey.

We love you. See you later sweet Loki boy.