

Oreo

Oreo,

You were once a nameless stray who was adopted to just be a mouser. Once you were of no use, they moved on and left you behind.

However, their lack of responsibility was such a blessing for us. With just a little patience and kindness, you blossomed into the most loving companion - As well as the best protector of the garden.

We will forever miss you and maybe one of these days get to see you napping peacefully in the garden again.

We love you always.
